Rick Lozano Standard AV Requirements

I look forward to working with you! Below are the most common things I need to make our time together outstanding!

Projection/Computer Connection

I'll need a way to plug my laptop into a projection/audio system that also includes audio coming directly from my laptop. I prefer to drive the presentation directly from the front of the room when possible; I'm adaptable if not! (There will be audio coming from the laptop regardless of where the driving location is) Power strip and Internet connectivity also preferred.

Confidence/Downstage Monitor

In larger ballrooms/theatres I will need a screen downstage that mirrors my presentation so I don't have to turn my back to the audience in order to see the slides.

Microphones

I will need a lavalier mic, preferably on that clips on my shirt. Ability to mute also preferred. I will also need a wireless microphone to use for audience interactions

Direct-in to Soundboard

I'll need a way to plug a 1/4" guitar cord into the sound system so that I can use my guitar in the presentation. A direct-in box on the stage is a great way to do this. I use a wireless receiver for my guitar, if there is one available for me to use at the event, even better! (Less to pack)

Riser

For audiences larger than 100 people, I will need either a stage or a portable riser/platform in the front of the room, not directly in front of the projection screen. This helps the audience see better.

Thank you for taking the time to help!
